

Heavy Rain Sends Creeks To Top Mark Since 1955

RIISING WATER on Pocono Creek surged to top of metal pipes through which it was supposed to pass late yesterday afternoon. As level continued to rise, water forced pipes loose from earth fill foundation of Ann St. detour.

By Leonard Randolph
MONROE County sweated out its worst flood threat since 1955 last night as a 12-hour rain storm put creek banks perilously near the flood stage.

High water was reported in all area of the county.
But at midnight Civil Defense personnel said that the "danger of immediate flooding appears to have passed."

Water in Pocono Creek—which demolished an earth-fill detour across the creek in Stroudsburg—was reported "falling" at Tannersville, at that time. In Stroudsburg borough, Pocono was still rising—at a rate of seven inches to the hour—but CD officials expected the water to decrease rapidly.

Brodheads Creek water surged up to within five feet of the bottom of the interborough State bridge. A huge log jammed along breakwater pilings at the East Stroudsburg end of the bridge. It created a furiously whirling torrent similar to those on piers of the old bridge which was destroyed by flood waters in 1955.

Primary danger in Stroudsburg borough came from backwaters from the Brodheads. As the level of the creek rose, water piled backward along the First St. area and in a line with the creek's banks.

More than a dozen cars at Courtland Motor Co. were covered by the backwater. CD officials worried, at first, that the water could carry the cars toward the breakwater pilings and create an added flood hazard.

No homes in the borough were flooded at midnight. No families had been evacuated, although some residents chose,
of their own volition, to move
"up on the hill" with friends or relatives when the first "flood scare" spread through the borough.

Major trouble spots in the area were the highways. At least four stretches of road were closed by water or hazardous conditions on bridges over streams. These included:

Route 90 and 290 between Tannersville and Stroudsburg.

State police said that a between Mount Pocono and Toby-hanna.

Route 171, Paradise Valley, where an earth slide forced temporary closing of the highway.

Water Levels Receding

AT 1 A.M., CIVIL Defense headquarters in Stroudsburg said that all reports — ranging from Wayne County through Barrett Township in Monroe and Stroudsburg—indicated that water levels in all creeks were receding.

Damage was believed to be "slight or minor" in areas throughout the three counties. Minor damage was reported to the dike at Newfoundland.

dition at the site of construction where fierce surface water run-

Route 196, the "old road" be-watch was being maintained on Route 611 at Swiftwater.

banks, at the location of the around a pier and forced a

Navy Probes Plane Crash At Wind Gap

WIND GAP—A board of four naval officers, assisted by six enlisted men, yesterday began an investigation of the crash of a twin-engine Navy Beechcraft on Blue Mountain, about two miles northwest of here, Thursday night.

Two veteran Navy pilots died in the crash.
The plane was on a return flight from Anacostia Naval Air Station, Washington, to Willow Grove Naval Air Station, near Philadelphia, when it crashed into the south side of the mountain, a considerable distance north of its destination.

The accident occurred during foggy and rainy weather. Killed were Lt. Cmdr. George Hardy Webster, 36, Doylestown, and Northfield, Vt., and Cmdr. Roy Dalton, 40, Arkadelphia, Ark.

Heard Crash
The wreckage and the bodies were found by State Police and Civil Defense volunteers after a search touched off when Clarence Wentzel, who lives nearby, heard the plane fly low over his house and then crash into the mountain.

Cpl. Edward McCroarty, state police aviation investigator, theorized that the pilot may have seen scrub oaks and tried to pull up sharply to avoid the mountain, too late.

Found in the wreckage were the two twisted propellers, the tail section and a seat cushion.
A small, gaily wrapped Christmas box was found in the commander's jacket.

For at least 200 feet down the slope from the center of the wreckage, the tops of trees were clipped off. At one spot a tree about six inches in diameter was splintered off about ten feet from the ground.

Cmdr. Dalton was commisioned in 1942 and had served in the Navy as an enlisted man for six years earlier. Besides the Navy Cross, Silver Star and DFCs he held 13 Air Medals, two presidential unit citations, and a series of World War II campaign ribbons and medals.
He was born in Arkadelphia, Ark., Jan. 15, 1917. He lived at the Willow Grove station with his wife, Frances A., and three children, Deborah, 8, Roy, 5, and John, 1. As training officer, he had charge of the program for about 500 men based at Willow Grove and the 2,500 who take part-time flight training there.

Lt. Cmdr. Webster, a native of Northfield, Vt., lived at 184 Davis Rd., Doylestown, with his wife, Marie, and their four children, Karen, 9, Sara, 7, Susan, 5, and Mark, 3.

He was a graduate of the U.S.
Naval Academy in 1944 and had 14 years of Naval service. His decorations included a Navy unit citation the Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Ribbon with four battle stars, and Korean, United Nations and other medals and ribbons.

During the height of the rain,
there was a brief break in the power lines supplying this area.
Service was restored at 6:45 p.m.
A number of telephones were reported out of service at LaAnna between 7 and 8 p.m.

Good Morning!
If women's intuition is so wonderful, how come they ask so many questions?

HIGH TIDE—Waters from the high flowing Brodheads Creek virtually covered the used car lot at Abeloff's Garage, on Second St., Stroudsburg. The water caused general alarm in the vicinity and flooded the cellars and yards of virtually every home in the lower sections of this region.

Rise In River Termed 'Not Alarming'

POINTS along the Delaware River reported a steady but not alarming rise in the river yesterday and last night.

At Milford, the river at 9 p.
m. had reached a height of 7.08 feet, about two feet above normal, and was still rising.

Vaughn Irons, assistant river master, predicted a peak of about 15 feet late today or early tomorrow.

He said it rained hard all day at Milford, but stopped around 11 p.m. The creeks were running high, but there was no immediate danger of flooding, he said.

Above Normal
He also checked at Berryville, further upstream, and the river gauge there showed a height of 7.38 feet, some five feet above normal, at 8:45 p.m.

At Delaware Water Gap, an attendant at the toll bridge office said the river was rising slowly, but said there was no immediate danger of flooding.
There is no gauge at the bridge, so the exact height could not be determined.

Cherry Creek, which empties into the river near the Delaware Water Gap bridge, was reported to be rising rapidly in the wake of the heavy rainfall.

To Patrol Highways

HARRISBURG, Dec. 20 (P)—All available state police were ordered today to patrol the highways during the Christmas holidays in what was described as "an all-out effort" to hold down the accident toll.

EXAMPLE — This house wasn't alone last night, but was rather an example of how waters of the Brodheads Creek and heavy rains, which reached 4.58 inches in Stroudsburg, flooded the grounds and cellars of dwellings in the Second St. region.
(Staff Photo by MacLeod)

ALARMING — Rising waters in the Brodheads Creek last night caused general alarm among the people living near both banks of the waterway between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.
At midnight groups such as this watched from the bridge railings as the Brodheads put on its wildest show since August 1955.

Some Families Evacuated As Precaution

NEWFOUNDLAND — Seven radial families living in low-lying sections along Wallenpaupack Creek were evacuated in a precautionary measure last night as heavy rainfall pushed the stream to its highest level since the August, 1955 flood.

There were no reports of any houses being flooded, however.
Many homeowners had water in their cellars, but this was due to run-off from the steady rainfall throughout the day.

Temporary Bridge
A temporary bridge located next to the Newfoundland Odd Fellows Hall was closed to traffic after high water damaged it seriously.
Civil Defense personnel were making a check of all bridges and roads in the area and were prepared to warn residents in the event the creek continued its rise.
This was considered doubtful late last night, however, as the rain had stopped more than an hour before and there were indications it would continue clear.

During the height of the rain,
there was a brief break in the
power lines supplying this area.
Service was restored at 6:45 p.m.
A number of telephones were reported out of service at LaAnna

Sunday School Lesson

Shepherds Visit New-Born Child

By Newman Campbell
Scripture — Philippians 2; Luke 2:8-20

THE FIRST part of today's lesson is from Paul's epistle to the Philippians, chapter 2, of which the part printed in our Peloubet's Notes, edited by Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, is verses one to 11. Paul reminds the Philippians that they "Fulfill my joy, that ye be like-minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind."

"Let nothing be done through strife, or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others."

In other words, they were to practice love to one another, and to be humble and unselfish. "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus," Paul writes.

Then he writes: "That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

Then we turn to St. Luke's gospel, which tells us of the birth of Jesus — "the most beautiful passages in all literature," Dr. Smith says, and we agree with him. Only Matthew and Luke contain accounts of His birth. Our lesson today is from Luke and covers only the episode of the shepherds who were the first informed of it, by angels from heaven. They were chosen, humble men as they were, to spread the marvelous news abroad.

The shepherds were in a field keeping watch over their flocks, as they were accustomed to do, to protect the sheep from wild beasts. Suddenly an angel of the Lord appeared to these humble men and a great light from heaven surrounded them. They were frightened, as one of us would be. But the angel calmed them by saying:

"Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

"And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

Then suddenly there were a multitude of the heavenly host with the angel, praising God and saying "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

The angels went away and the shepherds said among themselves, "Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us."

So they went to Bethlehem and found Mary and Joseph and the Babe, as the angel had said, and "When they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this Child. And all that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds."

Mary, the gentle mother of Jesus, "kept all these things and pondered them in her heart." What thoughts must have been hers and how blest she must have felt as she gazed upon her beautiful Babe and cared for Him.

"And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them."

We have no more space to comment, but suggest that the children be reminded of babies born into their own families and those of friends, which have brought joy into modern households. But as it was said of Jesus that "No man spake as this man," so no other birth but His has brought so much blessing into the world (concentrating too alas) as the birth of our Lord, Jesus Christ. On His birthday which we celebrate let us, too, praise God for His blessings.

Memory Verse — "God . . . loved us, and sent His Son." — 1 John 4:10.

CANDLE IN THE NIGHT

Simplest, humblest gleam of light . . . yet it rolls back the shadows. And striking the new-fallen snow, it casts a dazzling halo upon boughs of pine and holly.

Like a candle in the night Christmas rolls back the shadows of time, and touching the life of man, gives an aura of peace and good will to every day and deed.

It was truly the simplest and humblest event in history, this birth of a child in a stable. But from it shines "the true Light which lighteth every man that cometh into the world." And to live in that Light, to reflect it upon the world around us; this is peace and good will.

Like a candle in the night the Church beckons us to the gleam of its ageless Truth. And as we come to live by the Church's teaching, our faith will roll back the shadows for those around us.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Little Accomplished

President Eisenhower, perhaps with tongue in cheek, said he believes the NATO summit conference in Paris has "done something to make the ideal of peace a little closer—certainly the chances of war more remote."

While we are hopeful he is right on both counts, we're inclined to the belief that the cause of world peace has not been advanced one iota.

The free world can hope to prevent a global war only by building up its defenses to a point where Russia dare not set off the initial spark in any world-wide conflict.

NATO's combined armed strength hardly equals that of the Soviet Union. Any effort to build up this might is met by Russian threats against those nations which agree to participate.

The free countries of Europe are within easy range of Soviet missile bases. While they want to remain friendly with the United States—their sugar daddy and protector these many years—these nations are scared to death of taking any step which might offend the Kremlin.

American representatives went to the NATO conference hoping to shore up the sagging military defense which the 15-cooperating nations had organized some eight years ago.

Part of the strategy was to furnish American missiles to the other NATO powers as a way of countering Russia's missiles threat. But the props were knocked out from under this plan by Soviet Premier Bulganin's warning that the Soviets would rain death and destruction on any nation accepting U. S. missiles.

With this threat hanging over their heads, an attitude of neutralism swept across the NATO conference. The result was a watering down of the U. S. missiles proposal to an "agreement in principle" with only Great Britain, Turkey and the Netherlands going all the way in accepting the offer.

Thus, the conference failed to accomplish its one main objective: to build up its defenses to a point where it could maneuver from a position of strength.

Adoption of a resolution seeking new disarmament talks with Russia on a foreign ministers' level is not likely to accomplish anything more concrete than previous discussions. By refusing to close the door on further arms talks, we have gained little more than a defensive propaganda weapon.

Some real good, not yet evident, may come out of the Paris conference. As of now, however, we fail to see where the NATO powers have improved their own chances of surviving further inroads by the common enemy, Communist Russia.

Sense Of Values

A situation which has attracted the attention of many persons was treated at length recently in an address by Richard L. Roudebush, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

It has to do with the tendency of Americans to over-compensate those who entertain and amuse them while under-paying many persons whose services are a benefaction.

Temperamental and not always exemplary professional entertainers enjoy fabulous incomes. Sports figures draw fat purses. And give-away programs can make a person wealthy in a matter of minutes.

But those solid elements of our society—the nation's spiritual leaders, its educators and its scientists—skimp along on wages which leave them at the tag-end of the economic scale.

Commander Roudebush took note of this situation when he told an audience of ex-servicemen: "It seems ridiculous that some hill-billy singer should make 10 to 20 times as much money as the finest and most skilled scientist in the U. S."

What he was saying—and what other students of our society have pointed out before him—is that our sense of values is out of balance. We are risking the eminence heretofore enjoyed in education, in science, and in religion because we are not putting first things first.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Automatic Milking

Agriculture Secretary Benson has cut price supports on dairy products to 75% of parity effective April 1.

So already lawmakers and industry spokesmen from the milk-producing states are calling for legislation to maintain the current subsidies, and there is talk in Washington that new pressure will be placed on the President to oust Mr. Benson. Dairy state Congressmen have termed the reduction "shocking" and "disastrous."

Well, perhaps it is shocking when a Government official disregards a high-pressure lobby in favor of the public interest. It might well be disastrous to the housewife's equilibrium when she sees milk reduced and half-cent a quart and butter cut two and a half cents a pound. Things like that just don't happen much anymore.

And there could be some reason for the concern in the cowbarn. After all, in a few months the milking machine nozzled to the U. S. Treasury will only be operating at three-quarter capacity.

The Pennsylvania Story

GOP Tug Of War

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — A developing backstage struggle within the Pennsylvania GOP will go far toward determining who Keystone State Republicans will field next year as their gubernatorial candidate.

Strangely perhaps — in light of past history of the GOP in Pennsylvania—the tug of war is not predominantly between what often has been termed "warring factions" within the party.

Rather the backstage struggle this time is between those who insist upon following the heretofore accepted course of floating a candidate of tried and proven party loyalty above all else versus those insisting upon a candidate of virtual political unknown who in effect would be literally running as an "independent."

Followers of this latter philosophy are convinced that such a candidate remains about the only true hope for Republicans looking toward the gubernatorial chair next year.

They insist that too much stigma has already been attached in the public mind to the heralding of any down-the-line party candidate—following the course that historically has been the vogue over the years for the Pennsylvania GOP.

GOP regulars point out that any such candidate inevitably would wind up almost completely beyond their control. They allude shudderingly to the track-riding case of Pennsylvania's present Democratic Governor Leader who emerged in 1954 from virtual political obscurity to the gubernatorial throne room.

Those fighting for this ideological argue that it would be far better to have this type of candidate in the Governor's Mansion than nothing at all—with the thought in mind that once re-entrenched, a switch-over to one of stronger party leanings could be slated for the following term.

It definitely is something new for Pennsylvania Republicans.

While the same movement has been afoot for years within the GOP it has never blossomed into a major factor until this year.

With GOP registrations down frighteningly, this element has had the opportunity to come to the fore somewhat in the guise of a "this is it—or else" move.

Along the way surprising support has been picked up. A general deterioration of the once vaunted Republican organization now in the role of the minority party has helped immeasurably.

The old political hotspots of yesteryear are still breathing strong, a fact clearly evidenced by their snorts at the annual Pennsylvania Society dinner in New York over the past week end as they trotted out the same old worn political faces that have been in the files for years.

Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill meanwhile are watching with detached amusement the activity in this respect of their GOP counterparts.

To them it is a repetition of what they themselves went through little more than three short years ago.

Democratic leaders freely admit that their best hope in winning again next year lies in Republicans slating a gubernatorial candidate of the old line leanings of past Republican gubernatorial candidates.

In their opinion—and it certainly is not without sound foundation in this case—such a move would provide them with an unexpected "field day" at the polls next year.

Keystone State Republicans have a tough year ahead of them—not only from the standpoint of trying to win an election but more importantly in the fielding of their gubernatorial candidate.

Christmas In Europe

On Broadway —by Walter Winchell

Christmas and Kids

The jingling jollity of the holiday is best expressed by the laughter of children, their enthusiasm for a new toy and their silvery voices lending enchantment to carols. Of course, the nicest people in the world are kids. They are not only nice, but very, very wise . . . FDR once conceded that his young nephew gave him the most memorable lesson in shrewd diplomacy. The youngster had delayed until March to thank his uncle for a Christmas gift. His note stressed his delight with the present and concluded with a wily apology: "I'm sorry I didn't thank you for my present before. It would serve me right if you forgot my birthday next Thursday."

The traditional amicable relations between Mister and Miss Smalfry and Mister Jolly Hohoho is the inspiration for countless whimsical tales. The following is a sampling of chuckle-worthy missives hopeful tots have dispatched to Santa . . . An 8-year-old doll wrote: "I have one sister and my dog downstairs had twelve puppies. Give him a horse. I have a cat upstairs and have you sometime for the cat. We need people for the Christmas tree. I can spell Constantinople."

Another darling relayed a breathless confession to the North Pole: "I'm going to try and be very good until Christmas. P.S.: Please hurry." A candid young correspondent sent this communiqué: "All our family's money is going this year to buy another sister to play with. My brother and me like toys better." We live by our imagination as well as our intellect. The scope of a child's vision has a touching simplicity and thoughtful significance . . . During World War II, Londoners endured the most dreary Yuletide in their history. It was the time when the city was ripped and burned by the blitz. In one air raid shelter a youngster said her prayers. Her words inspired misty-eyes among those who listened. After repeating the customary "Now I lay me down to sleep," she added: "And God, please protect Mummy and Daddy from those German bombs. And do, dear God, take care of Yourself—because if anything happens to You, we're sunk."

The poignancy of a child's simple faith is always enchanting. Another tiny sweetheart once serenely informed her teacher: "I'm drawing a picture of God. It will be my Christmas present for you" . . . The teacher asked: "But how do you know what God looks like?" . . . The youngster logically explained: "That is why I am drawing Him. I want to find out."

Big Town Novelties: He is a combination actor-Casanova . . . He was seeking a way to unload a beauty—when he met a long-time pal he hadn't seen for weeks. . . The pal berated him for "never introducing me to any of your dolls" . . . "No sooner said that none," chuckled our hero. "I'll break my date with a honey for tonight and set it up for you" . . . The pal and gal dated and a genuine romance bloomed . . . They are now engaged . . . Several months elapsed . . . The actor-Lothario encountered this old pal again . . . This time the buddy hauled off and flattened him . . . "Are you nuts?" asked the flabbergasted ham. "I thought you were happy with her!" . . . "I am!" was the hysterical reply. "But I can't stand the torture of knowing she knew you!"

The Once Over

by H. I. Phillips

Editor of Pravda: I am eight years old and in my senior year in the Moscow Scientific School. Some of my friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says if I see it in Pravda or Izvestia it's so. Please tell me the truth.

Virginia . . . Virginia is a your little friends are right. They have been affected by malevolent capitalism. They know nothing can be believed unless it is so stated by the Kremlin. Nyet, Virginia! There is no Santa Claus. You can be put back in the junior year in science for thinking otherwise. Alas! how dreary this world would be if there were a Santa Claus and you had to believe in a kindly man who skimmed through the skies with a sleigh full of toys instead of in a Sputnik with scientific instruments. It would be as dreary as a belief he came down chimneys of his own choosing, with no official list of party-line chimneys, and filled stockings unapproved by the Presidium. It would mean childlike faith, with poetry, romance and carols permitted to take precedence over statement of policy, threats, ultimatums, warnings and denials of any interference in Hungary.

—C. H. WESTBROOK

Believe in Santa Claus! You might as well believe in love, candor, tolerance, tranquility and sincerity. You might as well be moved by flickering candles, glittering tree ornaments, and jingle bells. Your papa might watch all the chimneys but if he caught Santa what would that prove? It would prove he had been consorting with enemy agents. The only real things are what you can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on a lawn? Maybe. But the secret police had everything under control. Ah, Virginia, you could catch Santa and tear him apart, but what would you discover? A Wall Street conspiracy directed by NATO. Who would be inside? Probably John Foster Dulles. Santa Claus! Ah, Virginia, you had better start packing for Siberia! You're guilty of deviation.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Down the Main Street staggered one of the happiest hunters afoot. Though it was past midnight, he was playing—after a fashion—on a battered harmonica.

Out of the shadows stepped a constable. In a kindly but firm manner, he took the mouth organist by the arm, and observed, "Brother, you need help. Kindly accompany me."

"Delighted," murmured the celebrator with an ingratiating grin. "What would you like to sing?"

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Universal Chauvinism

Whenever I am among foreigners, Europeans, Asians, Africans, Latin Americans, I am among nationalists. They all are excited about their particular country and extol its special virtues. However, to speak of the United States of America as a nation, to say it needs to be defended, to believe that it possesses special virtues—these seem to be sins.

Most of the Americans present become embarrassed, as though one were referring to an old grandfather who could no longer control his nervous system. Some even openly apologize for the crudeness of matching someone else's chauvinism by proclaiming American chauvinism. How vulgar can you be!

There is a mood about Russia that I have long observed. It started way back in 1917 and it continues to this day. Those in such a mood say: it is wrong to confuse Russians with the Communists. The Communists have governed Russia for 40 years, but the Russians hate them! The Russians would have got rid of the Communists but they are afraid that foreigners will conquer their country; therefore, they have submitted to Lenin and Trotsky, to Stalin, and now to Khrushchev.

But soon, any day (it has been so since 1917) they, the Russian intelligentsia, youth, peasants, laborers (take your choice), will rise up, rid the world of the Communist beasts, and there will be peace and good will upon Earth.

This is the oldest line about Soviet Russia. I heard it in 1917-18 from John Reed and Raymond Robins; I heard it when I lived in China and Borodin was trying to conquer that country; I heard it in 1933 when Litvinov was winning recognition for Russia from Franklin D. Roosevelt.

I heard it from the White Russians who had run away during the Russian Revolution and who, having settled in various countries and having restored their aristocratic lineages, hated the Communists (to whom they referred as Jews) but loved Russia and grew ecstatic even with Stalin (who was not a Russian but a Georgian), when he became an ally (it was a foul trick) during World War II. Now, it pops up again and one is given a big dose of circumstantial leads to believe that just because Hungary and Poland talked up to Khrushchev, the Kremlin crowd is on the brink of defeat and the Communist world on the verge of dissolution and that all we need to do is wait for the Russian people to rise in their might and they will send Khrushchev orbiting in a Sputnik.

The argument goes that the Hungarian revolt was a success but that Soviet Russia suppressed it. The logic does not present itself, but do you want logic, too?

The sentimental notion is that Communist Party control over Soviet Russia will be ended in a short time because the Hungarian revolt did not fail but was suppressed. Does that mean that the United States should disarm, put its stockpiles of bombs into the ocean, give up its bases everywhere, stop its missiles and rockets developments and joyfully wait for the new Russian Revolution to put Khrushchev in a Sputnik and aim the Sputnik at us?

It is risky thought and those who go about the country promising the United States a revolution in Moscow in a few years are promising more than they can produce.

Furthermore, how does anyone know that such a revolution, if it occurred, would not produce Napoleonism rather than peace?

How do we know that Khrushchev might not be replaced by some general who would use the enthusiasm of the moment to engage upon a world-wide campaign of conquest? How do we know that Khrushchev's ally, Mao Tse-tung, would not rally forces that would be worse than what we face today?

I fear that the sentimental line is a dangerous one because Americans are a peace-loving people who hate war and would prefer to think well of their neighbors, and particularly of former allies. It is such an argument which encouraged the mammas to make such a fuss about bringing the boys home for Christmas in 1945-6, scaring members of Congress into the premature disbanding of American forces after World War II.

A better and truer position is to keep our powder dry and to be ready to shoot it out with anybody who wants to subdue this country.

From The Readers

The recent news in the paper about a longer school week for children is the reason for this letter. The working men are striving for a four day week, but we want our children to put in six days a week. This would be a hardship on all ages. The older ones who do odd jobs on Saturday and the small ones from six years old who need that day to play.

The article said no more time was being spent in school today than was years ago. This is so true. The time is less. I went to school back in 1935-1939 from 8:40 to 12, 1 to 4. Four years ago the school day was over at 3:30. Today it is over 3. Each year the times gets shorter that the child spends in school. This doesn't make sense if we want better educated children. Then too there is too much play and recess time in school. Cut out so much wasted time and study. Don't take the weekend away from the children, but let them study five days a week when they are at school to study.

Another difference in today's plan is too much importance is put on extra-curricular activities. Granted, it is fine for children to belong to all the clubs and sports, but the child has just so much time to devote to every day living.

When too much time is demanded for other activities the studies will suffer. In 1938 Cap Curtis was the only coach we needed at Stroudsburg High School and in 1935 he did such a good job alone we played Allentown in the State eliminations in basketball. Why do we need five coaches today? A boy may be good as a tackle or half back, but when he graduates how many people remember that? Is that a good qualification for a job?

One other point about Saturday school. It would certainly cost the taxpayer more money for bus transportation and teachers would want more money. It seems to me just another way to say we must have more taxes for school at the expense of our children. The solution is to keep the child in school for the purpose of learning an hour longer each day the way it used to be and do away with so much wasted time in school. Then you will have the equivalent to Saturday school.

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter to express my feelings regarding a couple of issues which have come up in recent months. Issues which they say will benefit everyone such as the collection of money to buy property in order to get industries to come to Stroudsburg. May I ask a question? Where are these industries?

More recently, this idea of the county contributing to the support of an airport. We need an airport like we need a hole in the head. They say everyone will benefit by it, but the way I see it, everyone (meaning us, the little taxpayers) will pay for it and only a few will actually benefit by it.

Why doesn't the county do something worthwhile for us townspeople and our children instead of always going out of their way to please the tourist trade. For example, the other day, I saw children coming out of a movie, which they never should have been seeing in the first place, just because that was the only place they have to go. Instead of an airport, why doesn't the county take that money and build us or rent a good recreational place for our children to go to? It might not bring in a big profit but I'm sure it will bring a lot of good clean fun to deserving children, and by doing this we all will benefit.

ter movie, she said.

Hollywood—With a married couple along as chaperones, actress Karen Steele and director Bud B. o t t i c h e r, whom she intends to wed as soon as he is free, are heading to Mexico for a vacation.

Plans for the trip were confirmed by both Karen and Bud.

"It is perfectly proper for us to go to Mexico at the same time as long as we are chaperoned," declared Botticher. "That is why we have asked our friends, Mexican Vice Consul Ruben Padilla and his wife, to travel with us."

Karen and Bud will spend Christmas and New Year's with bullfighter Carlos Arruza and his wife, Maria.

"We have to be back by February 1," said Bud. "Karen has a part coming up in Mervyn LeRoy's 'Home Before Dark' and I am due to direct the picture 'Buchanan' at Columbia."

All plans for Kim Novak and her Italian admirer, Mario Bandini, to meet in New York were cancelled.

Kim expects to have time enough only for a fast trip home at Christmas between the finish of her Alfred Hitchcock picture 'Vertigo,' and the start of wardrobe fittings for 'Bell, Book and Candle.'

Mario will come to Hollywood during filming of the latest movie, she said.

Natalie Wood and Bob Wagner have decided on a quiet wedding.

They'll probably take their vows shortly after Christmas when Natalie finishes 'Kings Go Forth.' This still will give them time for a month's honeymoon before either is needed for a picture.

They also have decided to take an apartment instead of a house.

Christmas Seal Sales Top 1956 Tabulation

Most Recent Figure At $9,585.79

FOR THE first time during the current drive the total sale of Christmas Seals yesterday pulled slightly ahead of that for 1956.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society, said last night that a total of 5,760 seal letters have been answered. Sale total so far, she said, is $9,585.79.

On December 20, 1956, the totals were: 5,501 letters answered accounting for $9,568.50. This would make the current drive $17.29 higher than the same day for the previous year.

Public Plea

At the same time, Mrs. Fleming again issued a public plea to those who have received the seals to "support the fight against TB" through purchase of the colorful and novel 1957 seals.

Mrs. Fleming also pointed out that "the overall goals of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society are not, by any means, confined to treatment, care and rehabilitation of tubercular patients."

"During recent years the Society has devoted countless hours of its time and much of its financial resource to the development of good health practice within the community. Through education (with the cooperation of the schools) the Society makes it possible for children to understand and adopt health measures which are all-important but still simple," Mrs. Fleming said.

"The work of the Society depends entirely upon financial resources gained from the sale of Christmas Seals. The seals are symbols of, not only the untiring fight against TB, but of the wider and seemingly less dramatic fight to keep our community health-conscious," she said.

Persons who have not yet returned their Christmas Seal contributions to the TB and Health Society office are urged to do so as soon as possible.

The itinerary will be as follows: Whitaker Place, near Hunters Range Ranger Station where visitors will see the remains of old deer study plots and old field plantings. The

Youngsters To Meet In Court Square

YOUNGSTERS who plan to attend the Christmas theater party next Monday afternoon are asked to gather at Court House Square between 1:30 and 2 p.m.

They will then march to the Sherman Theater for a half-hour program of carol singing and other entertainment. This will be followed at 2:30 p.m. by a two-hour "cartoon carnival" and the presentation of a Christmas treat to each child attending.

Santa Claus

The parade from Court House Square to the theater will be led by Santa Claus from Wyckoff's and a group of musicians from the Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

The annual party is sponsored by The Daily Record in cooperation with the theater. All area children from pre-school age through sixth grade are invited to attend.

53 Individual Artists Presenting 94 Pieces Of Work At Christmas Art Show In YMCA

By Leonard Randolph
GALLERY Art Club's Christmas show at the YMCA in Stroudsburg is one of the largest and liveliest exhibits of paintings we have had thus far.

The show represents the work of 53 individual artists. There are 94 pieces of work. The artists come from a total of 21 towns in three states.

Most of the work, true, is from this area. And, because of this, some of the paintings have the air of familiarity. Some of them have hung in other shows. Nearly all the landscapes are familiar, for other reasons, because they represent scenes such as Big Bushkill Creek, The Twin Falls, Cherry Valley Methodist Church, the mountains and streams, the seasons and the never-ending freshness of this immediate world in which we live.

If there is one thing which makes the current show (it runs through Jan. 4) more valuable than many of its predecessors, I should say it is the very lack of overall "style" or technique. This is, above all, a show which is reasonably representative of a wide variety of art "schools" and painting techniques.

Although nearly all the paintings achieve what they set out to do, there are some which seem to me more successful than others. In at least two instances, artists appear to be breaking away from the molds in which they have cast themselves: in subject matter, that is, and in the use of paint surface to convey a part of meaning.

Don't approach the show with the idea that (simply because it is called a "Christmas show") it is going to have a seasonal flavor. It does not. The paintings are landscapes, still lifes and portraits. Their quality may range from high to low, artistically, but the show has a kind of zest and vitality which is rare.

Among my personal favorites (and let's face it, art is just as much a matter of personality as any other medium of expression) are these: an excellent, bold and imaginative composite of slanting light and darkness by Adele Ketz, titled "Sunset on the Marsh"; the delicate dream-like quality of Violet Hallett Price's "Autumn Reflections"; Nancy Hebard's brilliant "Peonies" which is very nearly equalled in its explosive quality by Henry Evans painting of "Flowers"; a group of "Sunflowers" by Olivia Dreher; Carroll Churchill Cartwright's "Defiance Rock" which has remarkable strength despite the subtlety of its coloring; an expert, moody study in melancholia called "Dreamer" by Peter Heineman, which is notable also for its economy of line; the composition in Gertrude Roberts Rugh's "Even Tide"; the harsh, nearly grotesque portrait of a lynched man by Peter Cohen in "Joe."

Nearly everything about the show is interesting. It is valuable for its selection and, since the artists have been left to their own selectivity, it is marked by a rather astonishing degree of variety in treatment.

Any show such as this runs the risk of seeming too diffuse and too wide-ranging. The current show never falls, even though it is hung in several locations (two rooms and the stairway) at the YMCA.

The present exhibit has as its main purposes the stimulation of art appreciation in the community and the encouragement of giving art as a present for Christmas. If you have anyone on your list who likes painting and enjoys beauty, you'd do well to look the show over. Be sure you know their taste well before you do, however, because a painting you don't like can turn the most spacious living room into a prison.

Tamiment Makes Annual Book Award

NEW YORK—Tamiment Institute presented its annual Tamiment Book Award this past weekend at a luncheon meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria.

The 1957 award—the eighth of its kind given by the Institute—was presented "in absentia" to Milovan Djilas, the former Yugoslavian Communist leader who is now in jail because of his disagreement with prevailing Communist doctrine.

Djilas' book "The New Class" was cited by Tamiment as "an illuminating analysis of how Communism produced a tyrannical new class instead of a classless society, written by a man of courage who, to make his convictions known, chose ostracism and prison instead of power and privilege."

Trial By Tito
Publication of "The New Class" in the U. S. (by Frederick Praeger) led to Djilas' trial by Marshal Tito's government "for disseminating propaganda hostile to the State."

Previous winners of the Tamiment award have been Whittaker Chambers, Carl Sandburg, Selman Waksman and Dr. James MacGregor Burns.

Among those who attended the Tamiment luncheon from Stroudsburg were: Dr. Claus and Dr. Charlotte Jordan, Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Leitner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Albert, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. J. Joseph McCluskey, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Blaker and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Randolph.

Thieves Find Portable TV Sets Quite Easy To Handle

IT'S BEGINNING to appear that thieves in this area have set out to prove that portable TV sets are too portable for their own good.

Back on October 23-24, burglars broke into the Floyd O. Cyphers electrical appliance shop near the Bartonville Routes 12-611 junction. They walked out with several portable television sets.

Yesterday, Stroudsburg State police reported, that the same thing happened — at the same store.

Same Shop

Police troopers said burglars forced a side door at the Cyphers shop sometime between 11:30 p.m. Thursday and 7:45 a.m. yesterday. They touched nothing else in the shop, apparently, but TV sets.

They walked out with four of the portables: one nine-inch screen; two 14-inch sets and one 17-inch set.

Total value of the sets: $550. The burglars who broke into the shop in October are now behind bars, awaiting sentencing.

Mail Truck Suffers $150 Damage

A U.S. MAIL truck slipped into a water-filled ditch yesterday morning in South Stroudsburg.

Stroudsburg Borough police identified the driver of the truck as Sterling Counterman, 36 of 1734 Pokona Ave., Stroudsburg. Police said Counterman was making delivery of mail to boxes for later pickup by carriers.

Moving East

Police said the truck — a three-quarter ton panel vehicle — was moving east on Bryant when Counterman told them he saw a car headed toward him with its front end in a ditch.

Counterman swerved to avoid hitting the car and the rear of the truck skidded into the ditch, police said.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $150. The ditch was filled with runoff water from the street. It had been opened up, wider and deeper, earlier in the day. The accident occurred at 10:30 a.m.

A passenger in the truck, Richard Crum, 27, a student at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, sustained a bump on the head.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

The rain is still raining, to-night. The calls are still coming in about the weather forecast as flood-weary homeowners hear a familiar rhythm in the rain against their window panes. My shoes are still drying on the office radiator. But otherwise things are quiet in the newsroom.

Things are not always so. Reading Friday's issue of the Daily Record, I couldn't help thinking how little of the blood, sweat and tears showed through. To the public it must have seemed an ordinary issue, with perhaps a little more dramatic news — and a little fuzzier pictures — than usual.

Someday, I'd like to see an issue with all the extemporaneous diatribes, the floor-pacing and hair-tearing left in. Maybe it wouldn't go through the mails that way but it might give the readers a little appreciation of what goes in to making their daily news.

The news of the plane crash at Wind Gap drained from the office the only reporter and the only photographer on duty Thursday night, and from then on things got very complicated. The blood, sweat, and tears were more than figures of speech, my friends.

The blood was on Don Allen, as well as a considerable amount of wet leaves, mud and briars gathered on that pearl grey top coat when he arrived back at the office at 1:30 a.m. It's a hectic scramble up that Wind Gap mountain, it was very wet at the top, and equally hectic getting down again.

The sweating was being done by Jim Riley as the hours went by with no reporter and no photographer heard from and the deadlines drawing near, plus operating the engraver.

The tears were from Rod MacLeod who had somehow got his camera as well as himself up the mountain only to run smack up against the flat order, "No pictures!" With tears to spare when he saw what a couple of amateurs had done to his pictures in developing and drying the prints, with Jack Hill trying his hand for the first time at developing, trying to beat that inexorable deadline.

Tonight, its quiet — except for the sound of water dripping from Leonard Randolph's clothes as he writes up what he found on his tour of the rising creek. Pretty soon, the phones will begin to ring again. Calls from people wondering how the basketball games came out, from others, worried by renewed bursts of rain, asking if there is any danger of flooding.

Polk PTA To Press For Tax Equalization; Large Crowd At Christmas Entertainment

Kresgeville — In one of the most largely attended meetings of the year, the Polk Township Parent-Teachers Assn. decided to contact the Monroe County Commissioners as a collective bargaining agency for the West End to urge them to have the Tax Equalization Program rushed to a conclusion.

At stake are more definite plans concerning the building program of the Pleasant Valley Jointure. The group will urge that the firm conducting the survey complete the work as soon as possible.

The group also decided to adopt a more non-partisan view at the next local election and urge members to vote for friends of education rather than just on a political level.

The meeting opened with a Christmas play, presented by members of the fourth and fifth grades under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Arlington Martin.

Parents Charged, Too
Rev. Robert Booth, pastor of the Pleasant Valley charge of the United Church of Christ, pulled no punches in his talk concerning the relationship of parents and children.

Too many parents try to buy television sets or toys as a substitute for their interest in their children's problems, he charged. Parents, after a day's work, want to take it easy instead of being companions to their children and showing an interest in the things that interest the child. It may take some work on the part of parents, some reading and study, to become familiar with the particular interest of their child, but it is work well repaid, he said.

School Parties
The Christmas meeting of the PTA was but one of the seasonal activities at the school this week.

The vocational department of the high school held a Christmas party in the school auditorium on Wednesday night with the 11 members and many invited guests present.

Walter Fox, a member of the faculty played the part of Santa Claus and distributed gifts to the guests. Members exchanged gifts.

Games, including Truth or Consequences, and dancing were

Clubs Combine For Christmas Party At YMCA

The combined Christmas party held by members of the MORA and Leisure Hour Clubs at the YMCA this week had many highlights for the members. Mrs. Benjamin Pittman gave a monologue and a reading. There were two films, "The Night Before Christmas" and "The Nativity."

The party was held in a Christmas setting, with decorations by the joint committee. A Christmas tree from the Alvin Doering grove was decorated with dollars, the cash to be used in support of the YMCA's January membership campaign. The tree and decorations will be left for holiday parties at the YMCA.

A tiered cake had been baked for the party by Mrs. William Totten. There was another decorated cake baked by Mrs. Barbara Ott, a daughter-in-law of a MORA member. The clubs presented gifts and remembrances to the YMCA staff for their help during the year, including a corsage for Mrs. John Wilson.

Mrs. A. H. Mathieson was the official gift dispenser during the exchange of gifts. The group voted to hold a similar party next Christmas.

Archibald Company Party At Linden Court

The H. C. Archibald Plumbing Co. held the Christmas party for members of the firm, employees and their wives or husbands at Linden Court this week.

There was 100 percent attendance. Gifts were exchanged and pictures of plumbing jobs on which they had worked during the year were shown.

Male Chorus Sings For BPWC Party

The Business and Professional Women's Club held a gala Christmas party in a holiday setting and grab on Thursday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. In addition to the ballroom decorations, the committee headed by Mrs. Betty Noack, had provided individual centerpieces for each of the tables.

Moss, greens and Christmas scenes were featured on each table. The speaker's table centerpiece had a religious theme with a Madonna and carolers.

The Pocono Male Chorus presented a Christmas cantata, and Santa Claus distributed gifts to the members. Reports were given of the dinner served by the club to elderly guests last Saturday.

The Wyckoff Shopper

Looking around our cosmetic department, I encounter Kay Phillips—formerly of our Wyckoff switchboard, and now of Washington, D. C.—as well as several items of new, exciting merchandise. Kay tells me she'll be in town for both Christmas and New Year's Eve, which is good news to her friends.

The most whimsical item of new merchandise I discovered was a Fairy Wand by Coty, priced at 1.25. It's pretty, topped by a big golden star, and contains Bubble Bath in a delightful Coty fragrance. I also discovered Tweed in solid form, packaged to resemble a lighted taper, at 1.25. Which reminds me that if I could wave a Magic Wand, I'd be thinking about a Tweed suit, and buying my ticket for the fabulous 17-day Spring Tour of Europe, being sponsored by the Stroudsburg Woman's Club.

Speaking of the Woman's Club reminds me of the lovely and unusual Christmas card which just arrived from Rama, Rama, as you recall, was a guest of the club throughout the summer months, and made a wealth of friends throughout our county. She is now completing her studies in England. It was kind of her to remember me, for certainly she is well—and warmly—remembered here.

Betty Colvin of our corset department is looking forward to New Year's Eve—because that's the night a woman simply MUST have a strapless longline bra under her party dress. This, of course, means that buying should boom between now and then.

There are, naturally, any number of strapless bras on the market, and the cream of the crop are stocked at Wyckoff's. However, the truly smart girl will probably select an all-in-one garment such as the Girdlere or Torsolette. Betty recommends Scandale, by Tru Balance, at 18.50; Formfit, at 16.50, or Image of Youth at 10.95.

I suppose it's up to the individual what shape she's in on January 1st. But Betty's determined to have everyone in the right shape for New Year's Eve.

THINGS I LIKE AROUND WYCKOFF'S: Mickey Mouse, Peter Rabbit and Santa Claus... the milk glass punch bowls sold in our housewares department and some of the tall, milk glass and colored table lamps at 9.95 that look so very expensive and aren't... the gleam of our gold reindeer heads on every post, and the warm sheen of the Christmas ornaments in our Trim-a-Tree shop... the adorable little party dresses for tiny youngsters, fluffing-up the racks in our Children's department... the oil painting by Doug Gordon which we had the privilege of seeing in our lounge... the Christmas cards that arrive daily for Mabel Huffsmith to sort and distribute... the smiles of customers who are either embued with the spirit of the holiday or just thankful to be almost finished shopping... the Fred Waring carols played over our store amplifier by Switchboard Operator Dottie Dunn... our store windows which are always tasteful and tempting... the children who ride the Old Grey Mare on our second floor and imagine they are everything from Lady Godiva to Hopalong Cassidy... the number of wives (I can name three without thinking) who are buying sports coats from our men's department for their husbands this Christmas... the children, who come shopping for their parents' gifts, and invest in such adult essentials as pen shooters and chocolate bars.

But some things make me furious... things like the disappearance of the carved wood Baby Jesus from one of our loveliest mangers. It's almost unbelievable...

Children Entertain Pocono PTA

Tannersville — The Pocono Township Parent-Teachers Assn. followed their December meeting on Thursday night with a Christmas entertainment presented by the fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils and the junior girls' chorus.

Willard Webster, William Gerard and Jorgen Ask were named as a committee to follow the progress of jointure plans and to report on any advancement at the April meeting.

At the meeting on January 8 Dr. Gail Fegley will speak on "What Sight Means to Your Child."

Mrs. Brodhead Honored On Her Birthday

Loan Bid Listed By Railroad

NEW YORK—A group led by Manufacturers & Traders Trust Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., submitted the successful bid for Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Co.'s $5,500,000 five-year loan at an interest rate of five and one-quarter percent.

The Lackawanna announced, meanwhile, that its gross revenue for the first 11 months of 1957 was $79,203,558, compared with $81,348,778 for the similar period last year.

Net Income

Net income after fixed charges was $5,101,071 in 1956 and $1,137,959 for this year during the same 11-month period.

In November, the railroad reported a net deficit after fixed charges of $273,996, compared with a net income of $79,412 in November, 1956.

Lehigh Navigation Expects Lower Net Than In 1956

LEHIGH COAL AND NAVIGATION CO. should have a 1957 before-tax net of $3,300,000, or roughly $1.48 a share, President C. M. Dodson reported.

The after-tax net, he said, would be between $2,600,000 and $2,700,000, or about $1.20 a share.

Last year, the company earned $3,474,558, or $1.58 a share, when it had no federal income tax liability because of a tax-loss carry-forward.

No Damage Claim

COLOGNE, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Supreme Court has ruled that Dr. Werner Naumann, a deputy of the late Nazi propaganda chief Joseph Goebbels, can't claim damages from Bonn government for his 1953 arrest. He was jailed for six months on suspicion of conspiracy to restore the Nazi regime and asked damages.

It takes a GIANT to feed a family of 170,500,000

Getting food to 170,500,000 people in over 49,500,000 U. S. households is a job of giant proportions. Yet the country's 401,000 grocery retailers, large and small, do it every day ... and do it so effectively and in such volume, that we are the best fed people on earth.

Your local food store operator's never-ending search for new and better ways to fill your market basket is one reason why you enjoy the best, the freshest food possible at the lowest possible price.

It's also the reason why grocery retailers spend more money in newspapers than in any other advertising medium ... well over $162,000,000 in 1956. They have found that the daily newspaper is the most effective and efficient way to keep you informed of products and prices.

To satisfy a hunger for news of people, places and products, people buy over 58,000,000 brand new, freshly made copies of the daily newspaper every day. Because the newspaper is the natural, logical place for America to shop, it's the natural, logical place to advertise.

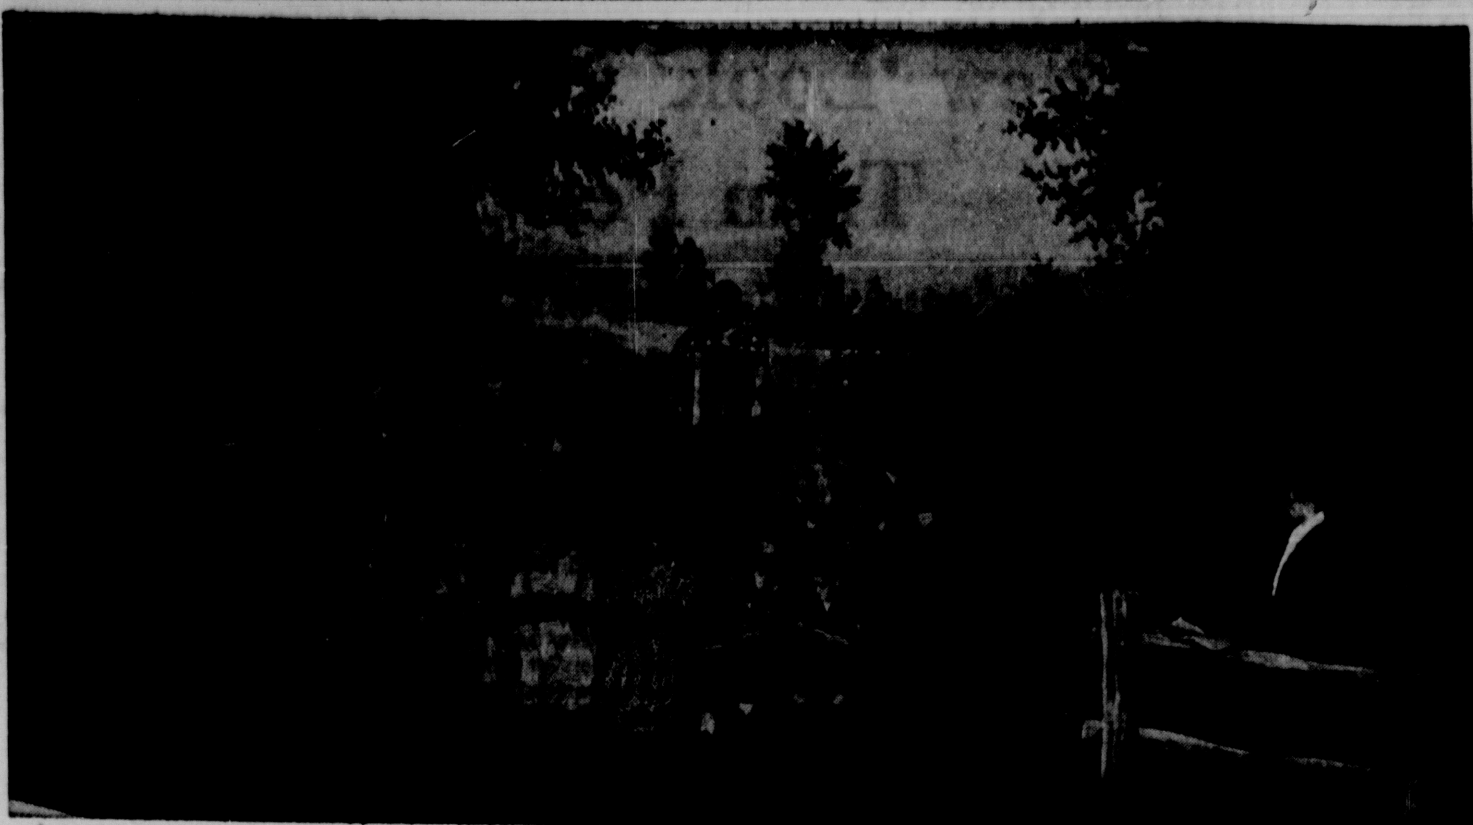

If you have anything to sell, make sure it's seen. More people will see it in the daily newspaper than anywhere else.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers

Mountaineers Rally In 4th Period In Dropping Second

Lane Offers Minoso Hike To $40,000

HAVANA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Aiming to line up one of baseball's perennial holdouts as quickly as possible, Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane today tempted Minoso with a $40,000 contract for 1958—the most lucrative in the Cuban star's eight year big league career.

Since it called for a reported $5,000 increase over what he received from the Chicago White Sox last season, Minoso was expected to sign within the next few days.

Lane, who is here to discuss the Indians' player personnel with Bobby Bragan, termed the move "another demonstration of our willingness to pay the highest salaries to get the best players."

Seeking Young Talent

He added: "I have notified every one of our scouts not to let any outstanding young player escape. We are prepared to go all out to get the best talent and to pay the top salaries. I am still very hopeful also about making a deal with the Detroit Tigers or New York Yankees."

Lane figures the Indians can pick up 10 games in the standings due to the acquisition of his new field general and the return of Herb Score, ace pitcher, sidelined for most of the 1957 season with an eye injury.

"With Bragan managing that is worth five games for us," Lane said, "and I think Score means another five."

Moreland Top Point-Getter

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—Jack Moreland, 6 foot, 8 inch freshman center from Louisiana Tech, leads the nation's small college basketball teams in individual scoring with an average of 34 points per game, the NCAA Service Bureau reported today.

Through games of Dec. 14, Moreland has collected 102 points in three contests. In one game, against Arkansas Tech, he scored 43. The second leading scorer is Bob Burke of Bates, who is averaging 32.7 points. Jim Davis of Kings (Pa.) is averaging 30.7 and Keith Tyler, Susquehanna 28.

All Newcomers

All of the top 10 scorers are newcomers this season, but there is a familiar name in the top point-getter, West Virginia Tech, only team in the country last year—major or small—to average more than 100 points per game, is at it again. Last year the West Virginians averaged 102.6 points, and in winning seven of eight games to date this season, they are scoring at a 105.4 clip—again the only team over 100.

In rebounds, Jim Smith of Steubenville has a 23.0 recovery average per game.

Bell Sees Little Reason To Change Draft Session

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell said today he sees little reason to change the National Football League's player draft timing as suggested by George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins.

Marshall said earlier he had written Bell proposing that the pro football draft session be held after the last bowl game—in keeping with the league's policy of non-interference with college players.

Bell said the 4-round draft session held in early December annually by the NFL doesn't constitute interference with college players.

No Pre-Signings

"To the best of my recollection no college player has signed with the NFL team before appearing in a post-season bowl game," Bell said.

The Marshall proposal will be submitted to the owners' meeting, held annually in conjunction with the January draft session, Bell said.

Marshall said he favored the outlook to create more free agents among pro football rookies.

He said under the present setup, each club goes into the training period with its hands on 65 players, the 35 with which it ended the previous campaign and 30 new draftees.

Bell agreed saying he's been trying to persuade the NFL owners to cut the number of draftees even more drastically.

Hillsdale Wins TD Club Award

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Hillsdale (Mich.) College, winner of 34 straight games, was named today by the Washington Touchdown Club as the outstanding small college football team of the year.

The Hillsdale squad is now at St. Petersburg, Fla., where it meets Pittsburg (Kan.) State in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics Holiday Bowl game tomorrow.

Hillsdale was chosen from among five colleges with enrollments under 1,000 which were drawn from an original list of nine prospects. The others were Juniata, Huntingdon, Pa.; St. Norbert, West DePere, Wis.; Hobart, Geneva, N.Y.; and Jamestown (N.D.) College.

49ers Back Unhurt In Car Mishap

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20 (AP)—The 49ers thanked their lucky stars today because halfback Joe Arenas escaped injury in a bad auto crash.

The accident occurred as the 49ers were waiting their title play-off clash with the Detroit Lions in Kezar Stadium Sunday.

Arenas, 32, football player was driving along Bayshore Freeway in Redwood City, south of San Francisco, when his new sedan was involved in a pileup with three other cars.

Emerges Trembling

Arenas emerged from the wreck trembling, but apparently unhurt.

It was a narrow escape for the 49ers, who are counting on throwing their full strength at the Lions in their playoff for the National Football League's Western Conference title.

The game will draw the stadium's capacity of almost 60,000 fans and will be televised nationally by CBS, starting at 1 p.m. PST, half an hour earlier than usual, with a 100-mile blackout.

It will be a "sudden death" affair. No tie can result under Rule 14 of the NFL. It's possible the fans might see more than 60 minutes of football.

College Coaches Like Pro Rules

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 20 (AP)—Should college basketball have a 24 or even a 30 second rule?

Yes, said three of the four coaches whose teams are entered in the University of Kentucky invitational tournament. They appeared on a TV panel.

The pros play under a rule which requires a team to shoot within 24 seconds after gaining possession or surrender the ball.

Coach Ozzie Cowles of Minnesota disagreed. Said Cowles: "... I think it makes teams take shots they shouldn't take."

North Carolina's Frank McGuire said it would eliminate the zone defense which is "ruining our college game."

West Virginia's Fred Schaus said "I don't think we've ever held the ball over 30 seconds except at the end of the game when we're running out the clock."

Kentucky's Adolph Rupp commented: "The next Olympics will be played under the 30-second rule. We might as well get used to it."

New 'Look' Cavaliers

Trim Pen Argyl, 58-46

Kindrew, Metzgar Set Pace With 27 And 15

MINUS THREE REGULARS and a reserve, Doug Schoonover patched up his East Stroudsburg High lineup and came up with a smooth machine which humbled Pen Argyl, 58-46, in the Cavaliers gym last night.

Guided by what was left of his first-string five—Jim Kindrew and Captain Dale Metzgar—the Cavaliers overcame a 9-0 first period deficit to go on and hang up their first win in two tries in the Lehigh-Northampton.

Schoonover was left with only Kindrew and Metzgar of the regular five when hitherto starters Wes Werkhiser, Irv Smith and Bob Herman quit the team. Joe Koleun, a substitute, also handed in his suit.

Kindrew, having his best night of the young season, canned 27 points to take game individual honors. Metzgar, besides setting up many counters with pin-point passing, swished through 15, to take second laurels.

Bill (Bones) Hillman, brought up from the junior varsity to fill one of the vacancies, was third with 12.

New Look Glitters

Pen Argyl, upstarters of Co-play last week, commanded the play in the first period, grabbing a 13-7 edge. However, in the second, Schoonover's "new look" began to shine.

With Gene Martin, aiding Metzgar in setting up the plays, and Hillman and Kindrew grabbing the rebounds, Eastburg shaved the lead to 24-23 at halftime. Actually the Cavaliers went ahead 32-22 with five seconds remaining before Caporaso sunk a double dekker for the Green Wave.

The third period saw Alex Sydelnik move into the set up department and Metzgar and Kindrew took the scoring cue to shoot the Eastburgers away to a 39-33 pad.

In the final eight minutes, Kindrew collaborated with Metzgar again on scoring sorties to insure Eastburg's first win of the season in three games. Art Swanson topped Pen Argyl, who are now 1-3 in the Lehigh-Northampton.

Eastburg's jayvees bowed in the preliminary, 45-31, to Pen Argyl's underlings. The Little Cavaliers' Doug Metzgar led all scorers with 16.

An English professor, making a modest salary, discovers his family's family history about with expensive Christmas gifts they cannot afford. A bitter argument follows, but eventually ends in their understanding the true meaning of Christmas.

At 1:30 p. m. Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians return to Ch. 4 for a half-hour of "The sweetest music this side of heaven."

At 8 p. m. on Ch. 6 and 7 Red Foley and "Country Music Jubilee" will spotlight seven-year-old "Cookie" McKinney singing "If It Doesn't Snow on Christmas"; also recording star Boyd Bennett. . . For Perry Como's traditional Christmas show his guests will be the McGuire Sisters; puppets Kukla and Ollie; the Marquis Chimps, animal act; and the children of the show's staff members.

On "Club Oasis" at 9 p. m. on Ch. 3 and 4 Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians will be featured in a program of Christmas music. . . The Christmas music will be the theme of the "Lawrence Welk Show" at 9 p. m. on Ch. 6 and 7, with Aladdin reciting "The Night Before Christmas"; Larry Dean and Diane Lennon duetting "Let's Have an Old Fashioned Christmas"; Rocky Rockwell bemoaning his fate with "Nuttin' for Christmas"; and the Lennon Sisters singing "The Toy Tiger."

Paladin (Richard Boone) finds it hard to prove the meaning of Christmas and forgiveness to an embittered rancher, who plans to hang a Pawnee chief on the eve of the holiday, on "Have Gun, Will Travel" at 9:30 p. m. on Ch. 2 and 10. . . Special added songs on "Your Hit Parade" at 10:30 p. m. on Ch. 3 and 4 will include "Jingle Bells" with the entire cast and "Winter Wonderland" by Virginia
